TRIPUNITHURA

Tripunithura, also known as 'Purna Veda Puri' - the land of Vedas, is one of the most prominent centers of traditional Kerala cultural heritage. The palaces of the Cochin Royal House are renowned for being patrons of traditional arts, architecture, literature and music. This made fine arts and architecture flourish under them in many ways. The town is also a prominent centre of learning for classical arts like Carnatic music, Kathakali, Bharathanatyam, and Mohiniyattam besides percussion instruments like Chenda, Maddalam, Mridangam, and Edakka.

Tripunithura is also well known for its historical cultures which includes the annual festival Vrishchikoltsawam that takes place at the Sree Poornathrayeesa Temple and the Atham procession during the season of Onam.
